Bark in the Park 2010-A Great Success

Bark in the Park is a well run event because of the quality of the team of neighbors that continue to volunteer their time to organize the event. Thanks to Ken Podgorsek, Dennis Cunningham, Farrell May Podgorsek, Beth Shafran-Mukai, Judy Connor, Robert Kennedy, Kim Aldridge, Pat Colombe, Marni Kamzan, Dennis and Chris Finn, and our event coordinators Chris Esparza and Annie Hermes of Giant Creative Services. We especially want to thank the many neighborhood volunteers who come out to help us run the event. Thank you. Without you there would be no Bark in the Park.

On September 18th, 3800 Dogs and 15,700 people came to our neighborhood to take part in the largest dog festival in the United States. Dogs and their Best Friends come from all over Northern California come to the William Street Park to take part in our All Dog Event. With over 90 Dog-Oriented Vendors and services, dog entertainment and dog contests, we give the dog lover everything that they could ever want, all in one place.

The Bark Committee is looking for volunteers for our organizing committee. If you love this event and want to be part of a great team, please contact Ken Podgorsek at BigDog@BarkSanJose.org.

See you at Bark in the Park 2011 which will be held on Saturday September 17, 2011. It will be a howling great time.

Bark in the Park continues to build on its reputation as a well run and fiscally responsible event. As the largest funder of CCA Beautification, Bark in the Park is responsible for many of the beautification improvements in Naglee Park, from the CCA Beautification's Tree Trimming program to the Median Buddies to William Street Park Beautification. Over the past few years Bark in the Park has also helped fund CCA Activities and events such as the CCA Fourth of July, CCA Holiday Get Together and National Night Out. We continue to make donations to the Humane Society Silicon Valley and the San Jose Animal Care Center as well as our local public schools. Without the success of Bark, we would not have been able to make these improvements and contributions.

THE LATE GEORGE WAYLAND: CAMPUS CHARACTER

By Jack Douglas

Every campus has its characters. I'm referring to those non-students who become professional hangers-on. They attend campus functions and, in a way, pick up an education without the tuition and fuss. Some of you may have known George Wayland who graced our University for twenty years or more in the 70's and 80's.

George was a tall, well-built Navy veteran whose haughty, somewhat condescending voice was often heard when questioning a speaker at the open forums on campus. He never missed our weekly book talks. So far as I know, he had only a high school education, but somehow he acquired a passion for high culture, so he seldom missed a concert or play on or off the campus. If there were three on the same night, he would attend them all, long enough to be able to give you an opinion of them. He especially enjoyed the events where food was served, and he frequently attended church suppers at the Friends meeting house or the Unitarian Church.

George was on disability and had subsidized housing, and he made a bit of money doing yard work. He did many jobs in Naglee Park. I got to know him when he crashed the New College parties at our house. We eventually got hooked, and we took him to many an opera and symphony concert. When he was disabled as a result of a botched heart operation, he managed to get a blue placard for the car he didn't have, and this was an added incentive for a driver to San Francisco where the parking is always difficult.

George had an apartment on Park Avenue, but he went there only to sleep. Early mornings he spent at the Peace Center, answering the phone and eating donuts.. Then it was on to San Jose State, where, if he was not in the cafeteria, he was on a bench enjoying the passing scene.

The botched operation resulted in the loss of George's feet. The Gulf War had just ended, and George said in an ironical tone: "Saddam and I have one thing in common, we were both defeated by the forces of the United States. This trauma might have slowed down someone less intrepid, but George, now in his early 70's, got artificial feet, and managed to keep up his active routines. On two occasions I had to rush to the campus with an allen wrench in order to put his feet back on.

His health declined rapidly after his second heart bypass. When we visited him at the VA hospital for the last time, he wanted to talk about the Prokofiev opera we had just seen. The Quaker Friends did a fine memorial service for him at their meetinghouse.

Months later I complained to a friend about receiving a series of phone calls in which no one answered. My friend said: "it's George – he wants a ride to the opera house."

Coming soon: Faculty characters.

CCA Beautification seeks Naglee Park Street Tree Pruning/Maintenance Grant Program Manager

CCA Beautification is asking for some tree-loving neighbor or neighbors to step forward and learn how to be our volunteer Street Tree Pruning/Maintenance Grant Program Manager. This is a volunteer job that could be shared by two tree-loving neighbors. Our grant program runs for a few months in a three-year cycle. Each year, different sections of the neighborhood are eligible to participate in the program. We alternate eligibility to accumulate funds to run this program and permit the trees to grow. Funds to run the program come from neighborhood donations to Beautification's Trees Fund and Bark in the Park. The volunteer manager(s) will be the main coordinator of and communicator for the current NP Street Tree Pruning Grant Program.

If you are interested, please contact

John Turner at Trees@NagleePark.org.

Program Manager's Primary Responsibilities:

Attend meetings and/or report to CCA Board and Beautification regarding program

Be liaison between professional tree company on City San Jose list of approved arborists, CCA, and homeowners--and CSJ if necessary.

Supervise mailing to homeowners.

Inspect work before CCA payment to tree company.

Details of the active months of the yearly cycle (October/November to February):

- 1) Each year, CCA Beautification and the CCA Board will determine what portion of Naglee Park will be eligible for the grant program as well as dollar amount available for grants in the current cycle.
- 2) A professional tree service on City of San Jose approved arborist list will survey the parking strip trees, provide work details and cost estimates for each tree by addresses. The tree service selected must be approved by CCA Beautification and the CCA Board.

3) CCA will send letters with all documents to the homeowners. This letter describes the grant program, includes tree company's proposed work and estimate for trimming street trees, a contract to sign and return with a check to CCA by a FIRM deadline, and a liability release for CCA.

4) The Program Manager reviews all returned forms for completeness and eligibility and creates a work order for the selected vendor. The Program Manager will work with CCA Treasurer to create a purchase order for the work to be performed by selected vendor. The PO must be approved by the CCA Board, according to CCA Fiscal Policy, prior to presentation to selected Vendor.

5) The program manager sends the tree company a completed work order and approved purchase order. The Program Manager(s) negotiates the work date(s) with selected vendor and notifies CCA Beautification and the CCA Board of those dates.

6) The program manager coordinates with the selected vendor regarding completion dates and extensions, if necessary.

7) The Program Manager checks to see if work is completed and trouble-shoots any problems that arises with homeowners and tree company.

8) The tree company is paid by CCA Treasurer, as per CCA Fiscal Policy, for completed work.

9) All direct expenses, such as mailing expense, for this program are paid from CCA Beautification General Fund.

DRC's Report

Bark-in-the-Park was the most fun I have had in my entire year on earth.

Thousands of dogs and humans wandering around together; some of us had to restrain our wolfish impulses to kill something, but, all in all, it was a hoot. I know it will cause some of my readers to ignite, but I have to say that pit bulls, especially the ones who are not street-safe, make me very nervous. I don't care if they are actually Staffordshire Bull Terriers, they are scary dogs.

I have been taking my male human and our other dog, Cooper, on long walks through town and I have some notes to share with you. My favorite walk begins with a right turn at the place where our street (editor's note: 12th Street) meets that street that still runs all the way downtown (E.N: San Fernando). We walk until we get to the river, past some very large houses, including, as I understand, the founding human's house of the neighborhood. We also walk by two beautiful redwood trees that always cause us to pause.

Then we turn left and walk along the river, which appears to be filled with debris from some enormous storm upstream. We come to a very busy street (E.N: Santa Clara) and pass a fire station with signs that picture hands around a human child, which I am told, implore humans to bring unwanted human infants to this location. What an interesting concept.

We cross the busy street and turn right. Several blocks later, we reach a playground and turn left. We walk past humans on wheeled boards sliding up and down hills, tennis courts, and lots of clean, grassy fields. As we walk, my human seems to avoid other humans who watch us from behind large shopping carts.

At the far end of the trail, we reach what I understand to be the San Jose High School. It appears to be a very clean and secure building with a sign announcing its founding in 1863. We walk past the school and turn right. Then we walk back across the really busy street for a few block and turn right on that same street as before (E.N: San Fernando).

As we pass each house, a member of the pit bull breed runs out in a frenzy and throws himself against the fence to let us know that we are causing him discomfort. I can't help noticing that each dog can fit his head through the fence and tear the face off of any dog foolish enough to stand too close, or some young human who thinks it would be a good idea to pet the beast.

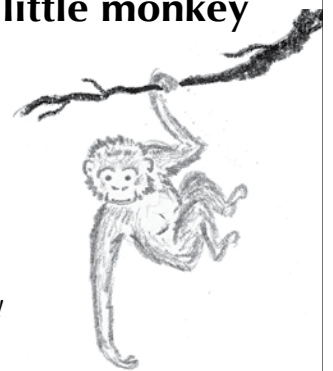

We survive the ordeal and continue our walk; turning left on what I am told is 14th Street to see if that dog that lives with Steve and Marni Grant is awake. He has a tendency to annoy me. Then we turn right, past Dr. Maggie's house, where her dogs mount a massive noise campaign, and continue back to our street and home.

You are all welcome to join us. Bark on.
